Meet Kathy McDowell

It takes quite a few people to bring fresh milk to your family each week. This month, we would like to tell you about one of our sales team members, Kathy McDowell.

No doubt, many of you were first introduced to Longmont Dairy when she knocked on your door and told you about us. Kathy has worked here for over three years, and drives away from the creamery every day in her one-ton, step van, with fresh samples and a big smile for all the new friends that she intends to meet. She also enjoys working at special events. You may have met her at one of our local Colorado farmer's markets.

Kathy's work ethic and friendliness are wonderful examples for all of us who have the privilege to call her our co-worker and friend.

This past month, she has surpassed our overall company record for new sales.

Congratulations and thanks, Kathy, for doing a great job introducing people to Longmont Dairy. ♥

In Remembrance

We want to remember our friend Rick Johnston, who worked at Longmont Dairy for many years. He passed away in December after a long battle with cancer. Rick was the manager of our bottling plant from 1988 thru 2006. Before that, he grew up around the dairy working with his dad, Johnny, in the 60's and 70's. Our fondest memories of Rick all center around having fun. He loved to laugh and make other people laugh, as well. We will always smile when we think of Rick.

♥ Rest in peace, dear friend.

Dear Friends,

It is January 5 today, as I am writing this letter. The exceptional thing is that I am sitting outside with my sleeves rolled up on a 60-degree day—one of the many good reasons that I love Colorado!

Among other good reasons to love Colorado are our many resources for great, fresh, homegrown food. (Not to brag, but our milk is one of those food products.)

We are so very proud to offer you some of Colorado's wonderful products: Talbot's Apple juice, from the western slope; Rocking W Cheese from Olathe, and farm fresh eggs from Platteville (15 miles east of Longmont). Living here is like having our own giant local food pantry!

Take care 'til next time,

Susan Boyd
